The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

Marijuana and Children

Criticism was attracted recently to a judge in San Diego who passed an unusually light sentence on a truck driver caught smuggling two tons of marijuana into the United States from Mexico at Calexico.

The judge sentenced the driver, a Mexican national, to six months in jail although the U.S. attorney in San Diego had recommended a five-year sentence.

The driver pleaded guilty and was released at sentencing because he had already served six months while awaiting trial.

In another case a local man was acquitted of involvement in a marijuana case although the van in which he was a passenger going more than a hundred miles to pick up the cargo — and return — a ton of marijuana.

There are other cases that are easily documented where light penalties or no penalty at all are invoked against those involved with marijuana cargos.

To any clear thinking citizen, there could be little doubt that people with sizeable quantities of marijuana have it for the purpose of selling it.

They're pushers!

Discussions with middle management people in narcotics enforcement inevitably results in vague answers or denial of information. It is often handled as though there are other forces involved and inferentially, that bigger game is at the end of the scheme.

That may be true, but we think that it is not. Enforcement officials should make reports to the people and indicate that their effort is meeting with success.

Keeping secret such activities after the work is done serves little useful purpose. The people who pay the bills are entitled to a report. In particular, distressed parents of children who become involved in narcotics, should be given some assurance that an attempt is being seriously made to stem the traffic in the dangerous weed.

Such secrecy is no more right than the secrecy at Watergate and this exposition is a request to the State's highest and most capable enforcement officer, Attorney General Evelle J. Younger that the concerned populace be informed that progress is being made against stopping smugglers, wholesalers and pushers of marijuana — or require enforcement agencies to admit failure. Double-talk and generalities are not the way of Mr. Younger and he will not countenance such misguidance of these agencies — if he takes up the cudgel.

Two things must be added here to make the picture clearer. Line troops, such as sheriff's deputies have done an outstanding job of enforcing the law by making arrests.

This is easily proven by checking the daily reports that officers must file as they pursue their duty. But many cases end with a judicial slap on the wrist, as in the two cases where marijuana cargo is measured by the ton. Or cases go into narcotics agency limbo with the outcome covered by vagueness or suppressed from normal channels of public information.

The second of the two things also have to do with the deputy sheriff's day-by-day reports. Of all the arrest reports listed, almost half of them deal with marijuana possession or use. Of these, nearly half involve youngsters 18-years of age or under. Many list users in the 14 and 15 year range. The reports also spell out the action taken after juveniles are apprehended often in a state of euphoria from use of the substance. Reported is the attitude of the parents when they come to face their supposedly intelligent, tender sons and daughters in custody of the police.

Imagine yourself going to a police station to reclaim your youngster who is involved in narcotics while you thought he was at a movie, a friend's home or at the library.

Who is to blame for the easy accessibility of marijuana? Don't waste your brainpower trying to answer.

First, it is the smuggler who has little trouble getting into this country with loads of it.

Second, it is the permissive judge who is so yellow-livered that he may levy heavier penalties on those who they claim "disrupt the dignity" of their court than they do on those who bring in large quantities of marijuana that will end up in "baggies" and pushed onto our children.

Then there is the super-secret narcotics agencies that tell nothing — and maybe do nothing.

The people all law enforcement agencies serve are entitled to know how their laws are being enforced. If Younger does to these secret agencies what he has done in the consumer protection field the public will regain confidence in enforcement agencies.

These agencies must convince the public that the public's interest is being served, it may not make it any easier for anguished parents of a 14-year old girl in custody of police on a marijuana charge to accept the situation serenely, but it will help to know that forces are at work to stem the marijuana tide — if indeed they are.

Fund Conversion Jails Lemon Grove Builder

A Lemon Grove contractor, Bruce Discher, 37, has been sentenced to four months in county jail following his conviction on a charge of conversion of construction funds.

The sentence was imposed by Municipal Court Judge William Graham last week.

Discher, who lives at 7992 Palm st. was head of the Discher Construction Co. in San Diego, until it went bankrupt in 1973.

The district attorney's office charged that Discher converted some construction material from a home improvement project to a massage parlor job in San Diego.

Discher, who was acquitted of misappropriating funds, is said to have received $17,000 for home improvements from owners of property on Yolanda avenue in San Diego but the improvements were never made and liens were filed against the property by workers and suppliers who were not paid.

The D.A.'s office said that some of the material, which included wall paneling, was used in the massage parlor rather than in the project for which it was intended.

Judge Graham ordered Discher to make restitution of $4,700 to the Yolanda ave. property owners.

County Tax Rate Lower; Tax Bills to be Higher

First the good news... San Diego County property taxes have been reduced by two cents for each $100 assessed valuation.

That means that the property tax rate, countywide will be $2.691 on the tax bills that will be issued in November.

And it is the second reduction in the rate in three years. But not all the news is rosy. Tax bills totals will be higher.

That's because the assessor, in the power vested in him by the state, has valued property at 16 per cent more than he did last year. However, about 40 per cent of that increase is new construction.

Tax bills will vary due to the varying number of tax districts in which the property lies.

District's Rate Varies

Tax districts vary widely — even in the Lemon Grove or Spring Valley areas. Some property is in lighting districts, for examples. Some is not. There is a difference in the Sanitation Districts between Lemon Grove and Spring Valley. That would change to tax bill. School tax obligations which vary from community to community make a difference in the tax bills.

Taxing districts in various parts of the county are formed for such diverse needs as cemeteries to ambulances, parks and recreation. There are 272 separate taxing districts and the county sets rates on all of them.

There are two constants for taxpayers on a county-wide basis. One constant is that all local district taxes are added to the county tax bill.

The other is that the $2.691 county rate is applied to every property in the county. That figure raises the funds for conducting the county's business and for funding various county programs.

Budget Higher

The county's budget is 10 per cent higher than last year's. This year's rate will raise $116.2 million of the $378.9 million that is required.

The remaining $262.7 million comes from state and federal sources.

Welfare program subventions are aided by both state and federal subventions. Property tax relief and senior citizens property tax aid are also state and federal subventions. Gasoline tax subventions account for about one third of the balance. Then there are service charges which take care of most of the rest.

Supervisor Dick Brown said that a plan he proposed in June would have cut an additional eight cents from the tax rate. He proposed that $7.3 million in excess retirement fund earnings be released. The Board of Supervisors has control over the fund but the idea was rejected.

Scholarships Figure in Family Leader Contest

College scholarships, from $500 to $5,000, are available to all high school seniors through the Betty Crocker Search for Leadership in Family Living, formerly the Betty Crocker Search for American Homemakers of Tomorrow.

An invitation to enroll in the program will soon be mailed to all high schools across the nation. Schools new to the event are invited to write the Betty Crocker Search, P. O. Box 1113, Minneapolis, Minn. 55440.

Enrollment deadline is October 31.

On Tuesday, Dec. 3, each participating school will administer a 50-minute written examination. Prepared and scored by Science Research Associates, Inc., Chicago, this general knowledge and attitude examination is the first important step of the scholarship program.

From the examination results, a Betty Crocker Family Leader of Tomorrow will be chosen for each participating school. School winners are acknowledged with special awards and their examinations are entered in state competition.

Each State Family Leader of Tomorrow receives a $1,500 college scholarship while every state second-place winner receives a $500 grant. The state winner also earns for his or her school a 20-volume reference work, "The Annals of America" from Encyclopaedia Britannica Educational Corporation.

Summer Wanes as Schools Prepare to Open Doors

An enrollment of nearly 21,000 high school students is anticipated when the schools of Grossmont Union High School District begin instruction on Tuesday. Major changes in school scheduling would be the elimination of the double sessions in Mt. Miguel and Monte Vista High Schools and the opening of Valhalla High School.

Continuing students, including ninth graders previously enrolled through local eighth grade schools, should have received copies of the 1974-75 program. Actual programming of students for particular class sections began Tuesday and continue through Friday. Parents who have questions concerning student scheduling should contact their high school.

Only one school is scheduled for double session this year: Santana will have morning sessions for eleventh and twelfth graders, and afternoon sessions for ninth and tenth graders.

A modified schedule for two other schools will be in operation for the first half of the school year as Granite Hills and Valhalla will share the Granite Hills campus. Granite Hills students will be on campus for morning sessions, while Valhalla students will be housed on the campus in the afternoon sessions until Valhalla is ready to accept students. Both schools will revert to a full-time regular schedule when Valhalla occupies its own campus in the spring of 1975.

Students who live two and one-half miles, or farther, from the school will be provided with bus transportation. Questions concerning bussing for students should also be directed to your local school.

Valley UW/CHAD Drive Headed by Glenn Boelter

Glenn E. Boelter, Prudential representative, will serve as Spring Valley chairman for the 1974 United Way/CHAD First Combined Campaign, it was announced this week.

East County communities will kick off their campaigns in a joint effort on September 19 with an afternoon tour of United Way member agencies followed by a dinner at Gillespie Field.

The 1974 combined campaign of United Way and CHAD supports 99 local health and human care services.

The campaign will cover only San Diego County's business and professional establishments, and city, county and state employees. Not included in the combined effort are residential campaigns, membership enrollments and individual gift solicitations, as well as traditional fund raising events sponsored by the constituent agencies, which will continue as before.

Accepting his appointment as Spring Valley chairman for the campaign, Boelter said:

"I have accepted this responsibility for many good reasons, one of the most important being the assistance that Naomi Marshall can offer to me and the campaign as community vice-chairman. As executive secretary of the Spring Valley Chamber of Commerce she is involved in most facets of civic activity in this community. Her involvement with the United Way campaign here last year will provide a storehouse of knowledge on giving trends in the business and residential communities."

Boelter is president-elect of the Spring Valley Chamber of Commerce. He holds memberships in the National Association of Life Underwriters, Toastmasters International and San Diego Assn. of Life Underwriters.

Mrs. Marshall is a member of the following Spring Valley organizations in addition to the Chamber of Commerce: Historical Society, Ursuline Catholic Women's Club, Roseland PTA, University Women, Red Cross Grey Ladies, National Parachutists and National Pilots Association.

Lemon Grove schools will open for classes on Tuesday.

School officials estimate beginning enrollment will be approximately that of last year in the neighborhood of 3,600, kindergarten through eighth grade.

The District operates eight school facilities throughout the community. Registration of new pupils can be made now in the various school offices.

Parents enrolling new pupils should bring evidence of birth dates and other health and academic records that would be helpful for placing the students.

Bus transportation will be provided on the same basis as prior years: Seventh and eighth grade pupils living two miles or more from the school of attendance; third, fourth, fifth, and sixth grade pupils living more than one mile and one quarter from the school of attendance; and kindergarten, first, and second grade pupils living more than three quarters of a mile from the school of attendance. Bus times and stops will be available from the schools after September 4.

The District operates special programs for physically handicapped, mentally handicapped, and the gifted. Parents having concerns about youngsters with special needs should contact school principals or the District Office.

The schools will continue to provide a hot lunch program with Class A lunch available at a cost of 40 cents for elementary children and 45 cents for junior high school students. Two new teachers have been hired to replace retirees. Administrative changes for the year include the combining of the Vista La Mesa School and Mount Vernon School under the supervision of Wiley Cornelius, now principal of Mount Vernon School. He will be assisted at Vista La Mesa School by Dan Heiserman, presently a teacher in the District.

Incoming seventh graders at Palm Junior High School and Lemon Grove Junior High School will have a morning of orientation on Friday, prior to the opening of school.

New seventh graders are expected to be in attendance from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. to meet with teachers and acquaint themselves with the school program and facilities.

perintendent, reported good progress has been made in meeting the goals established by the community goals committee.

The committee, under the chairmanship of William Talbot, spent two years developing a set of goal statements and objectives that represented the educational concerns of some 1500 local residents who were contacted by questionnaire or community hearings.

One of the main areas of progress has been to develop within the School District curriculum guides and materials and deal directly with goals established in regard to subject matter.

This year, under the leadership of James Justeson, Assistant Superintendent of Instruction, a staff team developed materials in language arts and reading which will be distributed to staff members at the opening of school.

As a result of strong emphasis by the community committee on counselling and social work services for students and parents, a project application was made for Federal

Electric Bills May Rise $1.20

San Diego Gas & Electric Company has filed a request with the Public Utilities Commission for an electric rate increase to offset the continuing rise in fuel costs. The company is seeking the 8.2 percent adjustment effective October 1.

Under the new rates, residential customers with a monthly usage of 486 kilowatt hours would pay an additional $1.20 a month.

The increase will produce $21.3 million in added revenues which it is said will be used to pay suppliers for higher fuel costs used in SDG&E's power plants.

Company President Walter A. Zitlau said, "We are very unhappy with the need to pass along this increase to our customers. Neither our company nor the people it serves can continue to bear the impact of an ever ascending price spiral."

He added that the ridiculous oil prices foreign governments are charging serve to emphasize the urgency for the United States to develop its own domestic oil resources and proceed as rapidly as possible with "Project Independence."

"In the meantime," Zitlau said, "SDG&E management is doing everything possible to hold down all of the costs over which we can exercise any control."

The fuel adjustment clause is a procedure established by the PUC to permit California utility companies to adjust electric rates every three months, with PUC approval, to reflect increases or decreases in power plant fuel costs.

The district is one of six districts in the State receiving a grant in this area. The grant is for $30,000 and has been awarded for the coming school year at the junior high school level. The project calls for a social work and counselling team that will attempt to help students who are prone to suspension and lack of success in school by providing special incentives and help in understanding their problems as well as to provide intensive individualized work in math and reading for students who are experiencing difficulties with these subjects.

In the area of facilities, the community committee recommended attractive, useful facilities that enhance the community.

Course Makes Bible Viable to Modern Man

Biblical themes which are universal in human experience will be given an historic overview from a contemporary perspective in a new UCSD Extension course to be offered this fall.

"The Human Bible (Old Testament): Art, Music, and Literature" will chart the development of biblical archetypes in the arts of ancient and modern world cultures.

The course, which is non-sectarian, provides a humanistic look at the Bible in the hopes of making it more viable to modern man and his religious concerns.

The first part of this two-quarter course is based on the Old Testament and the concepts of creation, exodus/liberation, prophecy and resurrection. Multi-media resources, such as films, slides and tapes will depict various biblical stories interpreted in ancient myths and legends, music and art, film and theatre.

The Rev. Jack E. Lindquist and Hedda A. Fish of the University of San Diego will teach the class beginning at 7 p.m., Tuesday, September 24, in Room 1438 of the Humanities Library Building, Revelle Campus, UCSD.

To learn more, see the Extension catalog, "Explore" or call the Extension registration office at 453-2000, extension 2061, (after Monday, call 452-3400).

Buyers from Federal, State, County and City agencies will be offering $110 million in open-end contracts.

The Congressmen pointed out that small businessmen attending the seminars and counseling sessions will learn how to cut red tape in preparing bid packages for government contracts.

In addition, counselors will instruct small businessmen on how to market their products in foreign countries by exhibiting their products in trade shows at U.S. Trade Centers.

CHP Says Most Vehicles Must Be Registered

Off-highway vehicle owners are laying themselves open to arrest by failing to register them or get identification stickers for them, California Highway Patrol Commissioner Walter Pudinski said.

With four exceptions, all off-road vehicles, including motorcycles, dirt bikes, minibikes, four-wheel-drive vehicles, dune buggies and snowmobiles—must carry the identification sticker issued by the Department of Motor Vehicles. The exceptions are:

—commercial vehicles; —vehicles operated only on private property by owners or tenants; —vehicles operated off highway on closed courses in organized, government-sanctioned events;

—motorcycles manufactured before 1943. Without a sticker or license plate, non-exempt off-road vehicles are subject to being cited by the CHP if they are even towed or transported in a truck on a public road.

A total of 175,000 off-highway vehicles now bear the sticker, although a recent DMV survey indicates that Californians own many times that number.

And renewals of the two-year stickers are coming in in a trickle, despite the fact that a penalty raised the registration fee from $15 to 18 on August 1 and another raised it to $30 at the end of August.

DMV has sent out renewal bills to owners of 128,000 of these vehicles, but has received the renewal fee from only 60,000.

Of the regular $15 fee, four dollars goes to local government in lieu of personal property tax, five to DMV for registration, and six to the Off-Highway Vehicle Fund in the Department of Parks and Recreation to provide places where off-highway vehicles may be operated.

YOU AND YOUR PET

by: Robert L. Stear D.V.M.

How do you see your pet? As a "dumb animal" who needs your protection to survive? Or as a companion capable of joy, depression and other "human" characteristics? Most dog and cat owners believe their pets experience emotions such as joy, loneliness and jealousy, and they are absolutely correct.

One of the more famous examples of a dog's emotional response is Buck in Jack London's Call of the Wild. Jealous and angry because he is not the lead dog of the team, Buck systematically plans disturbances in camp and disorder among the team. He then retreats and watches punishment fall on the other dogs. Once he becomes the leader, order is restored.

In real life, aside from responses triggered by fear or hunger, the emotional reaction most frequently seen by dog owners is affection. In fact, one of the most successful methods of canine behavior training is based upon the dog's desire to please and receive rewards (verbal or material) for completion of desired behavior.

When dog trainers indicate their displeasure with mistakes by a negative tone of voice, the dog will often sink along the ground, embarrassed and upset over its error. But when the tone changes, and the trainer becomes enthusiastic and forgiving, the animal will often jump up, relieved and glad to be out of the "dog house."

Sensitive to the personalities around them, some animals have been found to absorb part of their master's anxiety, and in some cases, perhaps even their neurosis. This is why a lot of nervous owners end up with nervous dogs. Animals tend to reflect the personalities of the people around them.

An animal's state of mind will also affect his general health and rate of recovery after surgery. Sometimes special arrangements must be made for these animals to recuperate at home instead of at the veterinarian's clinic.

Fortunately, undesirable behavior patterns do not have to be permanent. It may take a little work on your part, but your pet can be trained not to fear thunderstorms and not to pine away when you go on vacation. It just takes time and determination.

State Jobs Labeled "Hard to Fill"

With a July unemployment rate of 7.8 percent in California it may be difficult to believe that there are hundreds of "hard-to-fill" jobs.

Yet the State Employment Development Department (EDD) has a regular publication, "California Inventory of Job Openings," which currently lists 192 hard-to-fill jobs.

The inventory is published periodically by the Department, listing job openings from EDD files that have remained unfilled for a considerable amount of time.

In the current edition, there are 50 hard-to-fill openings listed in the professional and managerial classification in California, with salaries ranging from $4800 to $30,000 a year. Occupations in demand are diverse, as are locations and hiring requirements. Requested, for example, are electrical engineers, dental hygienists, physical therapists, teachers, social workers and escrow officers.

There are 53 current California openings in the clerical, skilled, semi-skilled and services category going begging, with salaries ranging from $4100 to $20,000 a year. Examples of jobs available are insurance persons, cooks, machinists, electrical repairmen and auto mechanics.

Jobs outside of California are also relayed to the Department, and are often the most difficult to fill.

Eighty-two openings of all types are listed in 18 other states and Puerto Rico, with salaries ranging from $3600 to $25,000 a year. Engineers of all types are in demand — also public relations men, secretaries, ranch hands, welders and carpenters.

The "California Inventory of Job Openings" is available in every EDD field office, as are thousands of other job openings not listed in the publication.

California Boating Agency Stunned by Water Fatalities

The sudden popularity of a nation, and due to the moderate climate and year 'round boating season, more Californians seek thrill or relaxation on the water more days of the year than almost any place in the world.

The fatality rate is staggering. Frank Torkelson, Acting Director for the Department of Navigation and Ocean Development, California's boating agency, admits that the battle to save lives in this sport is not going well.

"White water deaths have been the fastest rising fatality category for the last two years. During the last Memorial Day Weekend alone we had more white water deaths than we had for the entire State in all of 1972."

"For the past ten years, canoes, kayaks and inflatable rafts have typically claimed only a fraction of the State's boating fatalities. In some years only one or two percent of the boating deaths were found in this category."

In meeting these problems, the Department of Navigation and Ocean Development has begun an extensive publicity program with posters, signs and brochures to inform boatmen of the many dangers of fast water. Over 200,000 pamphlets entitled, "Boating Safety Hints for Canoes, Kayaks and Inflatable Rafts" have been printed for statewide distribution.

Prior to its release, the pamphlet was endorsed by the American Canoe Association, the American Whitewater Affiliate, American National Red Cross and the River Touring Section of the Sierra Club.

New Site Sought for Veterans Cemetery

The Veterans Administration is racing the clock to find a new national cemetery site for Southern California veterans, reports Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-San Diego.

The only national burial ground in San Diego, Fort Rosecrans, was closed eight years ago to new applications. More than 45,000 men and women are buried there. The cemetery still receives about 40 applications a month, Van Deerlin said, most of them from surviving spouses of persons already buried there.

Some space is still available in the Los Angeles National Cemetery, on the grounds of the old Sawtelle VA hospital. But officials there have advised Van Deerlin they probably will run out of room in another year.

Van Deerlin said a VA appropriation bill now moving through Congress contains funds for planning new cemeteries in three states "where the need is deemed most acute." California, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania.

Two VA representatives are currently scouting for a suitable location in Southern California.

10 Marijuana Plants Bring Charges to Two

Local sheriff's deputies, answering a complaint regarding type of which is commonly a loud party, Tuesday morning found the premises to be quiet, but other things required their attention.

Officers observed, by the glow of the porch light at 969 Gillespie, in Spring Valley, that 10 healthy plants 7-8 feet tall, were thriving in the side yard of the residence. Back at sheriff's headquarters the stuff was tested out to be marijuana — 1,421 grams of it.

Before they left the scene, however, officers conversed with residents of the apartment. They were Carl Edward Wolfe, 23, and Robert George Rosario, 21. The men were agreeable to a search of the premises where officers found other material which culminated in the arrest of the two.

They found 3 containers of marijuana seed; a glass bottle, two plastic baggies and a plastic bottle containing marijuana weighing 15 grams; 15 scored tablets; 2 tablets reported as LSD; 5 barbiturates; roach clips; a cigarette rolling

Sony Cassette Stolen

A Sony automatic stereo cassette valued at $100, was taken from the home of Gary Joseph Campbell, 8850 Ashmore street, Spring Valley between 11 o'clock and midnight August 25, he told the sheriff's department.

Massage Parlor Loss is $306

"Caprice One" is a Lemon Grove massage parlor at 3440 West street, but it is closed on Sunday.

That is why an apparent burglary over the week-end was not reported until Monday.

Tiger S. Leary, a spokesperson/masseur for the place told sheriff's deputies that $156 was taken from a cash box which was kept in a desk drawer between closing time Sunday at 1 a.m. and when she opened for business Monday at 10:30 a.m.

She said that a stereo tape player and an FM/AM tuner valued at $205 were also taken. The two losses don't quite add up mathematically but the loss, she insists, is real.

Tiger gave a San Diego address as her abode. Police said there were no pry marks discernible on either the front or back doors.

State Investments Earn Money Says Flournoy

Investment of temporarily idle State funds at the high interest rates of a tight-money market neared California over a quarter-billion dollars during 1973-74, State Controller Houston I. Flournoy said.

Cal. Assessable Property Worth $295.2 Billion

The full value of locally assessable property in California totals more than $295.2 billion, and the assessed value totals more than $71.4 billion. The figures for San Diego County are $18.4 billion and $4.9 billion respectively.

These values reported by the State Board of Equalization as of the lien date of March 1, 1974, and the final county ratios of assessed to full value were announced by Board member John W. Lynch.

In addition to the local values reported by the Board following hearings in Sacramento last week, the assessed values of the state's privately owned public utilities, which are assessed by the Board rather than by county assessors, was found to be $4.8 billion, 25 percent of a full value of $19.2 billion, as announced August 8.

Slight changes in the ratios from the preliminary figures announced July 16 were reported for the county of Alameda, Calaveras, Del Norte, Lake, Lassen, Los Angeles, Placer, San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Shasta, Sonoma, Sutter, Trinity, Ventura, Yolo, and Yuba. All others remained unchanged. The statewide weighted average changed slightly from the preliminary ratio of 24.1 percent to the final 24.2 percent.

The Board's ratio findings are used for a wide variety of purposes. More than $1.75 billion dollars of intergovernmental payments, such as state equalization aid to school districts, are based on "modified assessed values," with the Board's ratios serving as the modifiers.

Wilson's Bill Aids Licensed Professionals

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman Bob Wilson's (D-La Mesa) Assembly Bill 1234 which is designed to protect licensed professionals who carry malpractice insurance has been signed by the Governor.

Under current law, professional liability insurance may be written either on an "occurrence" or a "claims-made" basis. An "occurrence" type of policy provides coverage for claims resulting from any professional error which occurs while the policy is in effect, regardless of when the claim is made. A "claims-made" policy, however, provides coverage for claims against the insured made only when the policy is in effect.

Following the Governor's approval Wilson said, "As a result of my legislation, insurance agents are prohibited from issuing a policy on a limited 'claims-made' basis unless the policy and policy application and policy state that it is a 'claims-made' type of insurance policy."

In addition, the policy must also contain a warning on the face page urging the insured to review the policy carefully and discuss the coverage thereunder with your insurance agent or broker."

This new law takes effect January 1.

Burglars Strike L.G. Firm Again

It was number two for a Lemon Grove firm this week. Earlier this month the A. L. Greenbaum Co. safe was opened by thieves and money and checks were taken.

Last week thieves removed a hydraulic lift gate motor from one of the firm's trucks. It was valued at $200.

The firm is a wholesale carpet organization at 7704 North st. and was closed for the weekend when the loss occurred.

"Of course, inflation also helped create the earnings by increasing the amount of money raised by various tax programs and available for investment between the time it was received and when it was needed to meet government costs."

Most of the earnings, $232.8 million, resulted from investment of funds authorized by the Pooled Money Investment Board. The balance of the earnings came from 15 separate State investment programs.

"The total earnings were $118.3 million greater than in 1972-73, while the Pooled Money Investments gained $107.7 over the prior year, an increase of more than 80 percent in both cases," Flournoy said.

"In addition to inflation and rise of the average interest earning rate from 5.55 percent in 1972-73 to 8.97 in 1973-74, a major factor in the increase was the steady cash flow attributable to State income tax withholding. This provided a continuous cash liquidity which avoided the costs of temporary borrowing and made the maximum funds available for investment."

Students Need Work

Placing students in part time jobs is once again a concern of the Southwestern College Placement Office, according to Manuel Rios, Supervisor of Placement.

"Many students must work if they wish to attend school," stated Rios. "Some students are married and have families to support while they are attempting to improve their wage earning power or work toward a new job career which makes a part-time job even more essential."

If you have any type of job opening in any category, please call 420-1331.

Burglar Takes Fifty Items

The burglar who broke into the home of Seymour Finley at 8339 Roy street in Lemon Grove one night last week must have imagined he was in a junior department store.

He got away with fifty items including tools, money, wine, tape recorder, radio, bed clothing and a number of records.

He said the items were taken during the week of August 24 while he was absent. Preliminary estimate of the loss was set at $400.

Rancho Caballo Environment Report Viewed

A draft environmental impact report (EIR) for a project in an unincorporated County area is available for public review and comment. The report involves Rancho de los Caballos, a planned residential development of eight residences on 10.9 acres. The proposed development would be located 100 yards southwest of the intersection of El Camino Real and La Orilla, south of the San Elijo Lagoon.

The draft EIR for this project is available for review at the County's office of Environmental Management, 1600 Pacific Highway, on the Lemon Grove branch of the County Library.

Comments on this draft EIR must be submitted in writing to the County's Office of Environmental Management by September 9.

EPA Looks at Dirty Air, Automobiles

Bumper-to-bumper traffic, congested highways, air pollution alerts, illness, and increasing irritations — does it have to be this way?

A new publication from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) suggests steps the American consumer can take to help clean the air and clear the traffic. The booklet discusses the effect of emission controls on air pollution and car operation. Single free copies of "Clean Air and Your Car" are available from Consumer Information, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Baja California Airmap Needed For South of Border Road Race

by Collene Campbell

To Mickey Thompson, peering down at the Mexican landscape from his airplane, it looked as if Bobby Ferro was cheating. He was off the course and appeared to be bound to cut many miles off the scheduled route.

"Get that on film," Thompson yelled over the noise of the engine to his cameraman. Later, Ferro thanked Thompson for the spying, because the film proved he wasn't cheating at all, only lost and trying to find his way back to the right road.

Those tense moments were recalled this week as Thompson and Ferro discussed both the "Delco Baja Internacional" promoted by Thompson and the Long Beach Speed King's upcoming "AC-Delco World Championships" Off-Road Race to be held Sept. 28-29 at Riverside International Raceway.

Ferro is entered in the $170,000 closed-course race at Riverside in the same single-seat Sandmaster dune buggy he drove a month ago in Mexico. Ironically, while the controversy raged at Ensenada among other racers who heard rumors of Ferro's off-course excursion and built a case against him as a sort of Latin American Watergate, Ferro fumed over the precious lost minutes in that off-course wandering which apparently cost him the overall victory, which went to a pair of motorcyclists.

Now, all three of Thompson's SCORE International productions have frustrated Ferro. He failed to win at Riverside when his Sandmaster buggy swooped down a hill, hit a bump and knocked him out. The next thing Ferro knew he was upside down in the emergency parking ring of the freeway bordering the raceway.

Victories Come Hard
Other difficulties robbed him of victory in Thompson's SCORE Parker Dam 400 last winter.

Meanwhile, Ferro had taken up sprint car racing with the California Racing Assn., spawning ground of Indianapolis heroes from Parnelli Jones to Pancho Carter.

The 26-year-old studio stunt man from Sherman Oaks hopes to parlay his reputation in off-road racing and the hard work he puts into succeeding in other facets of motor sports into a professional career on the ovals and road courses of America.

Ferro has acquired the friendship and help of actor James Garner a motor racing fan and sometime participant, and Ferro has competed in everything from motorcycle hare and hound races (he was world champ in 1969) to formula 5000.

In his best off-road season, competing for Don Arnett's Sandmaster factory team, he won the Baja 500, was class winner and narrowly missed defeating Parnelli Jones in the Mexican 1000, was named off-road driver of the year by Car and Driver magazine and was nominated to the Autoracing All-American by the American Auto Racing Writers and Broadcasters Assn.

Since then he has been the No. 1 rival of former Indianapolis winner Jones, who will start the AC-Delco World Championships alongside Ferro in the first of four main events, which will include motorcycles, on Riverside race weekend.

Tickets for the race are on sale at Riverside Raceway and Ticketron outlets. Motorcycle entries are still available through SCORE International, Wilmington, CA.

Six Matadors Compete For 'Golden Sword'

Six of Mexico's finest matadors will compete next Sunday at Plaza Monumental de Tijuana for the coveted Golden Sword Trophy.

They are Antonio Lomelin, Adrian Romero, Carro Rivera, Raul Contreras, Mario Sevilla, and Jaime Rangel, who will each face one bull of Las Huertas beginning at 4 p.m.

This is the annual corrida from which proceeds go to the matadors' hospitalization fund. The six toreros have been hospitalized from goring and other injuries a combined total of 54 times.

Lomelin, 28, of Acapulco won two ears from a foe of Cerro Viejo in his last Tijuana outing on August 11.

Romero, 24, of Mexico City, in three appearances has turned in some electrifying performances. On each occasion he thrilled the fans with banderilla placements.

Rivera, 22, of Mexico City, has been good with cape and muleta.

Finito, 28, of Chihuahua has been the surprise of the season. He seems to have overcome injuries.

Rangel, 36, from the pueblo of San Miguel de Vindo, state of Hidalgo, also excels with the left hand.

S.V. School Vandalized

Vandals broke into the Spring Valley Elementary school last week while it was closed and damaged office equipment and records.

Entry was made through a window after breaking the glass. Vandals then ransacked the offices and rifled the files. No estimate of the loss was available immediately.

HANG ON — Probably the toughest and most consistent winner in off-road racing is Bobby Ferro. He is just one of the 300 entries in Mickey Thompson's "AC-Delco World Championship" off-road race at Riverside, Sept. 28-29.

Two Homestands Between Padres and Season's End

In a way it seems somewhat appropriate that as the days grow shorter the season also grows shorter for the San Diego Padres. In fact, the Padres are now down to just two homestands remaining before the curtain falls on the 1974 campaign.

The Padres are currently completing their final out-of-state road trip of the season with only single games with Houston on Sept. 6-8 and at Cincinnati Sept. 9-10 remaining before the club heads for home.

Once back in the friendly surroundings of San Diego Stadium, the Pads will play host to the Astros Sept. 11-13 followed by the Braves Sept. 13-15 and then the Reds Sept. 16-18.

All three games with the Astros are set for 7:30 p.m. starts as the Padres play their final three games of the year against the Houston club.

"We've still got our hopes of catching the Giants for fifth place," commented Padre Skipper John McNamara, "but

Knievel Jumps Sunday
Evel Knievel expects over 50,000 people to show up in Idaho and pay $25 a piece to see him attempt to jump the Snake River Canyon with his one million dollar "Sky-Cycle" Sunday.

The event will be shown in color on large screen closed circuit television at the Community Concourse's Golden Hall in San Diego, with tickets priced at $10 and $8.

The distance of the jump is over 5,000 ft., just short of a mile. In two prior tests, disaster struck both times as Evel lost two "Sky-Cycles" into the river canyon.

Out of his 300 plus jumps, Evel has had 11 crashes, suffering a total of 51 broken bones. His most disastrous attempt was when he failed to land upright after clearing the fountains in front of Caesar's Palace Hotel in Las Vegas, December 31, 1967.

This was his most famous accident and resulted in numerous broken bones and several months in the hospital.

The closed circuit promoters will offer six daredevil acts building to Evel's leap, starting at 1 p.m.

time is beginning to run out on us in a hurry so we've got to make our move pretty soon. "The first half of September will be the make or break record for us even though we won't be playing the Giants until the final week of the season. What we are facing is the situation where all of the Western Division clubs are now playing each other which makes it very easy to gain ground or lose it quickly in just a matter of days. Therefore, every game beginning with the return to Western Division play takes on double importance to us."

The Padres will also be getting a look at some of their promising farm hands during the closing weeks of the season.

Dove Hunting Season Open
California's 1974 dove hunting season opened Sunday and prospects in the southeastern desert areas are equal to last year.

The Department of Fish and Game says prime hunting opportunities should be found in the Palo Verde Valley and along the Colorado River.

Elsewhere in the state, fair hunting is forecast in southern California along the south coast whereas hunting will be less productive further north because of recent cold weather. A sharp drop in the number of birds in the northeastern part of the state was noted during the second week in August.

This year's 46-day split season continues through Monday, Sept. 30, then reopens Saturday, Nov. 23 and runs through Sunday, December 8. Daily bag and possession limits are 10 birds, with 20 allowed in the bag after opening day.

Returns from the department's game survey show that an estimated 4,350,700 doves were bagged last year, a 12 percent increase over the 1972 figure.

White-winged doves may be taken only in Imperial, Riverside and San Bernardino counties. The bag and possession limit will apply to the aggregate of species where white-winged doves are allowed.

Hitt—Record

Hitt Breaks Record For Cajon '50'

Jim Hitt, the Lemon Grove racer who has attracted statewide attention for his year-round ability at Cajon Speedway, came from behind Saturday to win the 50-lap main event by setting a record while outracing a rookie, Bobby Roland of El Cajon.

Hitt, cruising well back until the 32nd lap, came from 15th position to take the lead in a 20-car field. His time was 15:09.4 to break the record set by Larry Hageman of Lakeside on July 6. Hitt's time was 15:23.09.

Ron Overman, the season's point leader at the raceway was in the lead until the 13th lap. He then spun out in a pool of oil from a previously blown engine, and hit a wall. He was taken to El Cajon Valley Hospital for x-rays following the crack-up.

This Week
Supr stocks return to the Cajon oval Saturday with 60 cars gassed up and ready.

A special attraction will be the formal wedding ceremony of Debbie Power and John Borneman of El Cajon. The ceremony will be held just before the trophy dash at 8 p.m. Borneman, a dedicated racer, will put on his helmet and challenge the field in his Nova as soon as the ceremony is completed.

Bobby Roland, a Spring Valley racer, may be named "Rookie of the year". He jumped to 8th place by finishing second last week.

A destruction derby is scheduled for September 21 and final points race on September 28 will wrap it up.

Rape Aid to Continue

County Supervisor Jack Walsh is currently developing a program that would give assistance on a county-wide basis to rape victims.

The Board approved an additional $500 to keep the Rape Emergency Assistance League going, one that Walsh feels could well serve as a model program for the entire county.

The Assistance league, which currently works on a volunteer basis, operates in the East County area in cooperation with the El Cajon and La Mesa Police Departments and the County Sheriff.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

Vince Lombardi was convinced that winning was the only thing, but he was a football man and that mixture of madnes and mayhem mix a year's broken bones into a single afternoon.

In other sports, losing can be just as important as winning, in some respects. It's a learning thing. An experience. A lesson on life.

Football players spend their entire week in a few hours on Sunday afternoon, and live or die for the following seven days on the results.

It's a different matter with athletes of other persuasions. The playing year is too long, the schedule too full, the travel too demanding, for baseball, hockey, and/or (among other) basketball players to dream of undefeated seasons.

And they accept losses as part of the game and try to learn from them. It's an honest employment.

There are even those who take losing so lightly they laugh and joke and play silly games in the clubhouse after suffering defeat. It is almost a sign of a universal loser, a chronic non-winner.

Be heartened to learn that things are quiet and strained in the Padre's dressing room this campaign. It may not always have been so, but under the reign of John McNamara it is true.

Now don't get the idea Mac's troops beat their breast and cry and pull out their hair with every defeat. Even Montreal's Gene Mauch wouldn't ask for that and he's really intense.

On the occasion of Joe Morgan's first major league hit, Mauch turned the locker room's chow table over on a pair of reporters and a clutch of players, yelling, "You %$*% %$+ just been beaten by a little leaguer."

McNamara doesn't take the same approach. But he is serious and his players take his lead.

Things are church mouse quiet in the Padre's dressing quarters after a loss. On occasion a player will sit in front of his cubicle for an hour or more, replaying the day's game over in his mind. There is no laughter. There are serious professional athletes building a proper mental attitude.

Part of the new attitudes can be evidenced by the approach being taken to fall employment in the Arizona Instructional League.

"It's not a place for winning games," explained minor league director Bob Fontaine. "It's a place where you can work on one thing at a time under game conditions. Wins or losses over there don't mean anything. What they're doing is developing and polishing skills."

And it's almost for free. Players get something like $15 per day and they pay their own room and board.

You'd think, with a major leaguer you would have to fight to get them over there, but the Padres are so over loaded with work-wanting players there is a real logistics problem to fit time all on the roster.

Rookies, sophomores and some 5-and-6 year men all want a place under the Arizona sun. It's a healthy sign. A sign of sure improvement to come. A sign of a contending club. A position to which the Padres aspire.

"This has been a very important year," says McNamara. In truth it has been a learning year, a testing year, a year of measurement.

"When you are in the toughest division in baseball, you don't get anywhere taking shortcuts. It take sound playing," judges McNamara.

And like any new organization, it takes doing it to find what you have, experience to know what you need and work to bring the two together.

From the quiet of the dressing room and the eagerness for fall training, it would seem that when the Padres gather at Yuma next spring, they'll bring it all together. And even they can hardly wait.

Semana De Agua Activities Scheduled for September

Semana de Agua, or week of the water, will be celebrated here for the first time Sept. 16 through 22.

Unlimited hydroplane races on Mission Bay, a regatta ball with George Jessel as master of ceremonies in the historic Hotel del Coronado, a boat parade through downtown San Diego streets, yacht parties, and a 90-boat marlin fishing competition highlight the week's schedule of events.

Unlimited hydroplanes or "thunderboats" will race for a $30,000 purse in the San Diego Unlimited Regatta from noon to 5 p.m. Sept. 22 off East Vacation Isle in San Diego's 4,600-acre Mission Bay Aquatic Park.

Ninety boatloads of fishermen from two local marlin clubs will compete in three days of sportfishing from 9 to 30 miles off San Diego in the Semana de Agua marlin fishing contest. Top prize will be a large trophy.

Invitation-only yacht parties also are scheduled during the week at San Diego Mission Bay Boat and Ski Club and at the Kona Kai Club on San Diego Bay. Both on-board and dockside entertainment is planned.

Several Semana de Agua events will not be water oriented.

Zoo, Park Hours Enter Fall Schedules

The autumn operating schedules for the San Diego Zoo and the San Diego Wild Animal Park are now in effect; each institution's gates close one hour earlier — at 5 p.m.

The autumn schedule will remain in effect through October. Visitors already inside the Zoo or Park may stay on the grounds until 6:30 p.m.

Tours of the two attractions — via bus at the Zoo and monorail at the Wild Animal Park — operate until 5 p.m.

The Zoo's Skyfari cable lift also is open until 5 p.m. on the new schedule; the Children's Zoo closes at 4:30 p.m.

Both the Zoo and the Wild Animal Park open at 9 a.m. every day of the year.

Cairo is the largest city in the Middle East.

Vehicle Stop Brings Charge

Police charged James Coris Jr., 27, of 1000 Gillespie, Spring Valley, with possession of marijuana August 27 when sheriff's deputies stopped his car that was without a license plate light and a front bumper.

He was stopped about 9 p.m. in the 7300 block of Mt. Vernon st., in Lemon Grove.

The charge was operating a vehicle while possessing marijuana.

Youths Charged With Burglary

Six teenagers, four of them between 14 and 16 were charged by sheriff's deputies with burglary Friday night.

The two youths who were 19 and 18 were arrested. The other youngsters were released to their parents. Three girls were among the juveniles.

Specifically they were charged with burglarizing Monte Vista High school where they took two art vases. Officers also found cans of beer in the vehicle. One of the passengers, a 15-year old girl, said "we were just riding around."

George Daniel Keymas, 19, and Charles Richard Noonan, 19, both of La Mesa were arrested.

Date for arraignment in El Cajon Municipal Court had not been set at press time.

Burglar Takes Tickets

A sports-minded burglar took three Chargers season ticket books valued at $229 from a desk drawer in the patio of the home of Donald John Sullivan, 7627 Lansing drive, Lemon Grove, according to the sheriff's department.

game at San Diego.

Last week the Chargers lost to the Los Angeles Rams 30-16 with 28,183 fans in the stands. Quarterback Dan Fouts completed 16 of 29 passes for 262 yards and one touchdown. Halfback Glen Bonner caught five passes for 94 yards and a 10-yard touchdown. Robert Holmes made a touchdown and Dennis Pardee kicked a 41-yard field goal.

But the Chargers concern this week is the Vikings. At least one Charger believes the Minnesota defense is perennially the best in the NFL.

"Taking nothing away from Miami or Los Angeles, I'd say Minnesota has the best disciplined defense in the league," said Charger linebacker Carl Gersbach.

"Watch them on TV and see how every man is doing his job first. They have 11 guys all doing their job. They make no mistakes."

Gersbach has first-hand knowledge of the Viking prowess. He played at Minnesota for three years before being traded with Clint Jones to San Diego last year for No. 2 and No. 3 draft choices.

While Jones is sidelined because of knee surgery, Gersbach is looking forward to his return to the Twin Cities. "I only have good feelings about Minnesota," he said. "But I would love to have a good game against them."

"This could be one of the best rookie crops we've had. It is comparable to the 1967 season when our rookies included Alan Page, Clint Jones, Gene Washington, John Beasley, Bobby Grim and Bobby Bryant. It's not that we are geniuses, but we had some high draft choices, including two first, two seconds and two thirds, and they are living up to expectations."

Claims Costs Too High

Riverside Cancels Oct. 27 Can-Am

RIVERSIDE — The Canadian-American Challenge Cup auto race scheduled for Riverside International Raceway on Oct. 27 has been canceled, RIR president Les Richter announced today.

The Can-Am was to have been one of three major events comprising the Riverside Grand Prix that weekend. The other two, the Formula 5000 Championship and the International Race of Champions, will be held as scheduled.

"We regret having to cancel the Can-Am," Richter said. "But the costs involved simply aren't justified by the quality of competition being offered."

"It is our feeling that events like the Formula 5000 and International Race of Champions more accurately reflect the future of American road racing and we want to concentrate on developing the sport in those areas."

The Formula 5000 is a series for open-wheeled racers similar to those competing on the international Formula One circuit. The Race of Champions, a one-year-old concept, is a series of invitational races between 12 of the world's top drivers.

The Can-Am has been a series for unlimited sports cars and through last year had been promoted at Riverside by the Los Angeles Times newspaper. When the paper withdrew its sponsorship earlier this year, Riverside Raceway took the listing and included it with the other two events as the Riverside Grand Prix.

The Can-Am was to have been an eight-race series this year, but previous cancellations had cut the number to six and put 10 weeks between last Sunday's race in Wisconsin and the Riverside date.

"It's hard to pick up the momentum of any series after that much of a pause and promote it successfully," Richter said. "In the case of this year's Can-Am, it would be even tougher."

"The series' attraction has always been the mechanical made and in some 1974 races, innovation shown by the car builders, but the costs have driven most of them out."

The series had been dominated in recent years by Turanian factory efforts from McLaren and Porsche. Neither factory participates today and the series this year has belonged to the two-car Shadow team of Jackie Oliver and George Follmer.

No other major effort was as few as 15 cars were entered.

'Maravilla Kid' Heads Coliseum Show Friday

Ruben Navarro, the "Maravilla Kid", who is noted for his gravel voice and colorful life-style, will attempt a comeback Friday at the San Diego Coliseum after 17 months of rest and relaxation.

He'll meet San Francisco's Bobby Jordan in a ten-round lightweight bout.

Navarro, who has long been acclaimed internationally for his ring prowess, has never reached the heights of Mando Ramos, his stablemate. Navarro brings his 42-7-2 record from his East Los Angeles home area in a career that started seven years ago.

Reuben made three attempts to gain the world's championship. He fought Rene Barrientos, Ken Buchanan and Rudolfo Gonzales — unsuccessfully.

After Gonzales beat him he announced his retirement but became lonely for his fans. So he decided on a comeback.

He claims to be in the best shape of his career after spending his retirement period

Ramona Grand Prix Draws Top Equestrians

More than ten countries will be represented in the International Grand Prix Classic, September 18-22, at San Diego Country Estates near Ramona. The four-day event (Friday is dark) will send jumping and show horses through their range view of the Olympics-style horse jumping classic. The benefit is sponsored by the S. D. Soroptimist Club with Mrs. Andre Burnier as chairman.

Among the large contingent of American riders attending the event will be 21-year-old Michele McEvoy from Summit, New Jersey, who recently finished second in the Women's World Championships in La Baule, France.

Rodney Jenkins, top money-winning professional in this country, heads a list of United States men attending the Grand Prix, including four members of the U. S. equestrian team.

Two $100,000 Races On Tap at Del Mar

The $100,000-added Del Mar Invitational Handicap, premiere event of the summer season for older Thoroughbreds, will have its 35th running Sunday as the highlighted event of the final full week's racing of the 1974 season.

The 43-day meeting will be climaxed Wednesday with presentation of the $100,000 Del Mar Futurity for two-year-olds. An interseasonal battle is in prospect in the Del Mar Handicap, which is contested at the marathon distance of a mile and three-eighths on the grass. Expected to return from the East Coast to shoulder the highweight of 120 pounds in the historic Del Mar Handicap is Richard Craig's Plunk, who was second to True Knight while defeating Forego in the Suburban Handicap in New York.

Also journeying to Del Mar from the East Coast will be Sigmund Sommer's recently-acquired Anono, who is conditioned by Frank Martin. Mike Venezia will ride Anono, a lightweight threat under 111 pounds.

Clement Hirsch's Cirinus, highly-regarded import from Argentina where he won seven of ten starts, will be making his United States debut in the Del Mar 'Cap and has drawn an impost of 116 pounds. Cirinus, a bay son of El Centauro, won his final start in Argentina at a mile and seven-eighths.

Other anticipated entrants in the classic are Elmendorf's My Old Friend, upset winner of the Eddie Reed Handicap recently; War Heim, victor in the Cabrillo Handicap; Montmartre, runner-up in the Read 'Cap; the outstanding mare La Zanzara, Red Top III, another runner from Argentina; Mr. Cockatoo, Strong Award and Yvetot.

McNab Leaves S.D. a Legacy of Competence and Respectability

It wasn't a particularly sad farewell. When sports people part there is little time for tears. Writers have other assignments. The departed become spotlighted in another part of the geography.

And thus it was when circumstances brought several people together at the fruit-juice bar operated by the Buzze Bavasi for the benefit of sportswriters and sportscasters after each of the Padre baseball games.

Max McNab, the general manager and vice president of the now extinct Gulls hockey team had returned from Dallas to clean up his desk before he returned permanently to his new assignment as president of the Central Hockey League.

Gathered around were Johnny De Mott, the speakerboard voice of the Padres and the Chargers; Bob Williams, until recently the executive sports editor of the San Diego Union; Wayne Lockwood, who covered Gulls for the Union until Peter Graham, Sports Arena leaseholder had ordained the demise of the Gulls together with the collapse of the Western Hockey League by replacing the Gulls with the World Hockey Mariners. There are more problems surrounding the Mariners than there ever were with the Gulls — and Graham may rue the day he came to his decision to switch tenants.

There were others, too. But they were mostly baseball people because the farewell came in the pressbox of Sunday's baseball game against the Chicago Cubs.

Baseball people know McNab well, too. His reputation for honesty, ability and friendliness transcended the boundaries of a single sport. He is respected and admired by figures in all the sports.

The week before the informal unplanned gathering, there was a farewell party for McNab. It was a banquet that would benefit amateur hockey in San Diego. This was proper since McNab fathered and nurtured the amateur gang.

International hockey stars volunteered to participate in the affair. Phil Esposito and Bobby Orr, famed teammates of the NHL Boston Bruins and Mike Walton, of the WHL Minnesota Flying Saints appeared on the program at which more than 400 persons paid $25 each.

The climax came when McNab was ushered into the San Diego Hall of Champions and he was handed a plaque that will always remind him of the admiration and respect that so many San Diegans share for him.

On the program was the Hall of Famer Walter (Babe) Pratt of the Vancouver Canucks. Whitman Mayo, who stars with Redd Fox on the "Sanford and Son" television program joined Pratt in story-telling at the banquet.

Sure, that part of the program was more blue than it should have been for family fare, but it was none of McNab's doing. Pratt and Mayo are free spirits and nobody was called in to edit their material.

But McNab's part was strictly family. The kids dug it; mothers loved it and fathers nodded approvingly. McNab fits well into a circle of respectability that includes such people as Pete Newell of the Denver Rockets, Charlie Waller of the Washington Redskins and Eddie Leishman of the San Diego Padres. Leishman is gone. Some say he died of a broken heart when the team he served as a general manager did not reflect his sports philosophy. It is interesting to note that Newell was a visitor at the Chargers game Saturday. Who was he with? McNab, of course.

When the Gulls disintegrated, McNab's problems were as severe as those who worked for him. He, too, needed a position whereby he could support his wife, June, and their fine family. They have one son who was rookie last year for Buffalo in the National Hockey League. Another son is studying law.

It was characteristic of McNab that he turned his attention first to the welfare of his administrative staff. Players would be picked up in ratio to their ability. But posts had to be found for those who served the office. Before he accepted the position as president of the Central Hockey League, McNab found jobs for every one of them. And in each instance the new job was superior to the old.

What compassion! That also speaks well for McNab's judgment of personnel and for his ability to train.

Here's where "staff" settled: His coach, Jack "Tex" Evans, became coach/manager of the Salt Lake City Golden Eagles, now of the CHL. A step up!

Trainer Billy Bozak, was established with the Winnipeg Jets of World Hockey. A step up!

Al Nicholson, promotion director, is now an executive with Foodmaker Corp. and probably will be an executive with the WHL Mariners of Foodmaker becomes part owner of the team — if it is sold.

Gulls broadcaster Mike Lang is now the radio voice of the Pittsburgh Penguins, WHL team. Into the majors! Bruce Binkowski, Gulls public relations director and director of minor officials, has the same post now with the San Diego Conquistadors, the American Basketball Association team. Into the majors!

Annette Pikoulas, his executive secretary, moves to Dallas where she becomes the office manager and secretary of Central Hockey League.

Those who said farewell to McNab at the banquet and at other places at other times are keenly aware of the void that he leaves.

But we've got to keep reminding ourselves that this is not an obituary. It's progress. And it is, in a lonely sense, a time for joy.

Burglary Suspects Get Break; Victim Won't Make Complaint

A neighbor who witnessed charges against the youths, several youths entering the Charges were dropped by the home of a neighbor who was sheriff's department except away, made a hasty report to possession of alcohol by minors with the added complaint of curfew violation charged.

There they caught six suspects — all under 18 except to two of them. They had two 20-gallon kegs of beer and a frozen steak in their possession — articles identified by Roberta Grove and Billy Ray Snow, 18, Staybrook of 2011 Terra Kappa of 9627 Blarney, Spring Valley in Spring Valley. They had been taken from her home during her absence.

But all she wanted was her week in El Cajon Municipal Court for the 18-year old suspects. She declined to press

'Pests' Harmful Say Doctors

Scores of different insects and other pests "bug" our daily lives, but during the summer months the outdoorsman is particularly vulnerable to them. Nature's many creeping, crawling and flying creatures can deliver painful (and sometimes deadly) stings or bites, and sometimes also transmit disease.

Bees, wasps, ticks, chiggers and flies are usually prominent pests of farmers, fishermen, and hunters and picnickers, but in certain areas scorpions and poisonous spiders are also a problem.

If you are stung by a honeybee, you must take prompt action to minimize the pain and irritation. Once the honeybee stings, the barbed stinger and the venom-filled sac often remain attached to the skin. Even though the bee has been brushed aside the threat has not been disposed of — venom can still enter the skin from the attached stinger.

Carefully examine the puncture site with a knife or fingernail and scrape off the stinger immediately. Do not try to grasp the stinger between the fingers as more venom might be squeezed into the skin.

For first aid, apply a paste of meat tenderizer and water (1/4 teaspoon of tenderizer in one or two teaspoons of water) to the area of the sting. This household preparation destroys the venom. Unless the stings are treated immediately in this way, the wound may occasionally remain painful, tender and swollen for days.

Hornets, yellow jackets, wasps and bumblebees do not leave their venom sacs when they sting; consequently, they may sting more than once. These stings bring redness, pain, and itching; and, if you are stung many times, enough venom may be absorbed to make you quite ill. If this should happen, seek medical treatment.

Some people are additionally threatened by an allergic sensitivity to the venom of stinging insects. When sensitivity is known to exist, your physician may decide to administer desensitizing shots before your outing to prevent severe allergic reaction.

Nutrition Center Here Stays Open

Nutrition programs for senior citizens which are administered by the County of San Diego will not be affected by the closing of three nutritional centers run by the San Diego City Unified School District.

Howard Jones, administrative coordinator for the County's nutrition program, reports that the nine County nutrition centers including the one in Lemon Grove will continue to operate and are not connected with the three City School District centers.

The nine County centers include three located in minority communities: a bilingual center in the South Bay area, a center at St. Jude's Church in Southeast San Diego, and a third center at the Pala Indian Reservation.

Other County centers are located in downtown San Diego, El Cajon, Mid-City, Ramona, and Vista.

Person over 60 years of age and their spouses are eligible to participate in the County's nutrition program. Special emphasis is given to persons living alone, individuals with limited mobility and those who cannot afford to eat adequately. People who are becoming isolated and need human contact are also encouraged to participate in the program.

Each of the nine County centers sponsors a variety of programs for the senior citizens, including music, entertainment and speakers during meals, information and referral services, health and welfare counseling, shopping assistance, and a variety of classes ranging from bridge to yoga. There is also a program of recreational activities at each center. Typical activities include dancing and games, trips to points of local interest and physical conditioning.

The County's nutrition program is funded under Title VII of the Older Americans Act of 1965. The County's program is administered by the County Human Resources Agency.

Tramway Renovated

PALM SPRINGS — The Palm Springs Aerial Tramway is closed for annual refurbishing.

It will reopen with a fresh look for the fall season Friday, September 20. So will the tram's Alpine restaurant.

This summer tram visitors have been enjoying western outdoor barbecues following their soar through five climatic zones one mile up the rugged face of Mt. San Jacinto. The final barbecue was on Labor Day.

Upon reopening, the tram's Alpine restaurant will recommend special dinners.

The Palm Springs Aerial Tramway is the longest single-span tram in the world and attracts visitors from all over the world.

The average monthly wage in Communist Poland is $96.

Opponent Slaps Deddeh 'Retirement, Do-Nothing'

Speaking to a group of about 75 persons at his campaign headquarters opening, 80th Assembly candidate Norm Ross criticized incumbent Assemblyman Wadie Deddeh of "never making anybody mad." Said Republican candidate Ross, "Show me a person who doesn't make someone mad in eight years and I will show you a person who has done nothing!"

Ross, a Chula Vista realtor, told a combined audience of Republicans, Democrats and Independents that Deddeh was responsible for allowing 14 large insurance companies of averting $16.4 million in taxes through the use of tax loopholes. Deddeh is chairman of the Finance and Insurance committee, Ross said.

"I can't help but believe that those large campaign contributions, such as $3,000 from a Los Angeles insurance company while he was sitting as chairman, were responsible for this lack of action on the part of Mr. Deddeh," said Ross.

"If I ever saw one, the incumbent is a politician," pointed out Ross. "He has the Democrats convinced he is a liberal, the Republicans convinced that he shares their views, he votes for abortion while being a member of Pro-Life and he maintains his good standing with educators while voting to allow high school students to smoke on campus."

Ross said he was particularly angry over the "big rip-off" of retirement benefits. "A state employee gets $293 a month at retirement after 10 years in office. State legislators can retire after 10 years in office and get a bonus of $213,678 or a defeated legislator can collect $900 a month for life immediately after leaving office, regardless of his age," Ross said.

The candidate's office is at 470 3rd ave. in Chula Vista.

again with a grant application from the County and contributions of the PTA and student body, the entire playground has been converted to grass. Under the leadership of Mrs. Ilse Hanning, Golden Avenue School Principal, the project was completed in one year and the playground will be ready for use with the opening of school.

Superintendent Sutton reported that other goals and objectives are in process. School officials express satisfaction with the role advisory groups have played in offering assistance to the Board in reviewing and re-evaluating district goals. Sutton said that this was not peculiar to Lemon Grove but that throughout the State parents and communities are more and more making their views and concerns felt. The boards of education are responding positively to this interest and better schools and communities are the result, he said.

The local Goals Committee will be meeting in November to review progress and update goals to reflect current needs and thinking.

Hidden Valley Wildlife Area Purchased For $475,000

A wildlife conservation project, costing $475,000, was approved by the Wildlife Conservation Board recently.

Purchased was about 278 acres of river bottom in the Hidden Valley Wildlife Area along the Santa Ana River. It is the second parcel purchased in the staged acquisition of 1,300 acres described as one of the largest areas of streambed habitat remaining in the southern part of the state.

The first parcel bought was about 171 acres costing $265,000.

WCB Executive Officer Chester M. Hart said that Riverside County, which will operate and maintain the area for recreation purposes and as wildlife habitat, plans to leave it in its natural state for the present and to provide only low-key development in the future.

Mexico's Independence Means Colorful Celebration Due

"Viva Mexico!" goes the shout. "Que Viva!" comes the reply as the traditional El Grito (the shout) is commemorated at 11 p.m. Sept. 15 throughout Mexico . . . and the border cities of San Diego and Tijuana are no exception.

Tijuana Mayor Marco Antonio Bolanos Cacho will proclaim the "El Grito" from the steps of the Tijuana city hall, Second ve. and B. Similar ceremonies will be held at Plaza Rosa in San Diego's Old Town State Historic Park as a finale to a civic/artistic program sponsored by the Mexican Tourist Bureau. Beginning at 8 p.m. in Old Town, Ballet Genesis, Mexican folkloric dancers, will re-enact the history of Mexico through dances and traditional songs. Mexican Consul Daniel Gonzales Dupree will lead the shout.

Tijuana's celebration of independence runs from Saturday through the 16th. Mayor Bolanos Cacho leads the inauguration of the festival at noon Saturday, at Mission del Sol. The mission, on the road to Playa de Tijuana, will be the site of an exposition of arts and crafts, a carnival, and numerous food booths each afternoon through Sept. 16. Open air theater and folkloric dances will be free to spectators. Rondalla, singers from the municipal police, will also be on hand. At 8 p.m., Saturday,

An open party, called "Noche Mexicana," will be held at 9 p.m. Sept. 14 at the City Hall Plaza. On Sept. 15, the "El Grito" will be pronounced following at Mission del Sol. On Sept. 16, the Tijuana celebration continues with a "people's parade" at 10 a.m. from 5 de Mayo (F ave.) and B. Juarez (Second ave.) through Avenida Revolucion to Ignacio Zaragoza (9a ave.). Thousands of children from Tijuana grammar and intermediate schools will march in their colorful academic uniforms. The hour-long parade will include charros and civic and military groups.

Mexico's Independence Day commemorates an 11-year war against Spanish rule which began with an uprising in central Mexico on Sept. 15, 1810. Padre Miguel Hidalgo y Costillo first took up the cry of "El Grito" to arouse the people of Dolores against Spain, its ruler for three centuries. A peace treaty was finally signed on Sept. 21, 1821, but after Padre Hidalgo himself was captured and executed in 1811 for his part in the fight for independence.

The "El Grito" commemorates Padre Hidalgo's part in the struggle and is usually pronounced by the leader of the city or state from the main civic building's balcony.

NAB Offers Aid To Jobless Vets

Numbers of veterans seeking jobs in the San Diego area are expected to nearly triple during the coming year, according to the San Diego-Imperial Counties office of the National Alliance of Businessmen.

"We hope to place at least 4,300 veterans in jobs during the coming year," said Jess Macias, Alliance metropolitan chairman. "This is nearly a 200 percent increase over last year's placement goal."

The reason is an increased number of men and women leaving military service, according to Macias. "The Department of Defense estimates that 370,000 servicemen will be released during Fiscal '75," he said. "We expect that a significant number will seek jobs in the San Diego area."

Boats shimmering in still water like Pissarro paintings, delicate nudes in double and triple exposure and natural portraiture using available sources are just some of the subjects in "Changing Times", the Ninth Annual Professional Photographers West exhibition.

CYA Cites Juvenile Hall; Center Relates Change

Sacramento — The California Youth Authority has notified the San Diego County Probation Department that it must discontinue using its juvenile hall for detention of minors unless overcrowded conditions are corrected within 60 days.

Allen F. Breed, director of the CYA, reported that an inspection indicated that both the boys' and girls' living units were overcrowded beyond the standard set by the CYA's standards for juvenile halls. He added that on the date of inspection the population in the juvenile hall numbered 238 youths, 41 more than the approved capacity of the facility.

As a result, Breed said, the Youth Authority has found that the San Diego County Juvenile Hall "is an unsuitable place for the confinement of minors."

Mrs. Eileen Miller, Assistant Superintendent for Juvenile Hall in San Diego relates, "measures have already been taken to remedy the situation. We are now referring the parents and youngsters to local agencies fit to deal with the youngsters' particular problems."

This is a step in a "detention control program" where as less-problem youth are counseled rather than confined.

There seems to be some measure of the program's success as the Hall is no longer over-crowded, according to Mrs. Miller.

She said however, that if counseling didn't help the youngsters they may be referred back to Juvenile Hall or to a probation department.

Other clarifying language will be added to summonses under the bill warning defendant-recipients of the consequence of not responding and of the need for promptness.

In addition counties may, by local ordinance, provide that summonses from California courts effective January, 1975, will state in Spanish and in English: "Notice! You Have Been Sued. The Court May Decide Against You Without Your Being Heard Unless You Respond Within 30 Days. Read Information Below."

The bill was in response to complaints that language on summonses issued in civil lawsuits does not contain clear notice of the force and effect of the summons and that large numbers of Spanish speaking Californians do not understand the summons at all.
